Welcome Slide: Speaker Notes

- Again, welcome to the Year 4 HPOG Annual Meeting.
- We see immense value in the HPOG Annual Meeting as a time of learning and interaction. We hope you will take full advantage of the sessions and the knowledge in the room from other grantee staff. This really is a great learning event and I look forward to always learning more from you.
- During this session I'm going to give a quick overview of HPOG and where we stand. Then Clarence Carter, the Director of the Office of Family Assistance, will speak and finally we will hear from Stacy Schafer, an HPOG Participant from Central Susquehanna Intermediate Unit. We will then have time for questions and discussion.

INSPIRATION

Inspiration: Speaker Notes

- As I was preparing for today, a word kept coming to mind. Inspiration. The definition rings true. Inspire means to exert an animating, enlivening, or exalting influence on or to spur on.
- I am inspired by the work you're doing to serve participants and your communities.
- I, along with so many others in this room, am inspired by our HPOG participant success stories.
- Participants are inspired by their coaches and their peers.
- Participants are inspiring their children and their communities.
- HPOG is inspiring change and innovation in how we can best empower individuals to reach financial self-sufficiency.

HPOG by the Numbers: Speaker Notes

- This is a snapshot of the main, five-year HPOG goals, where progress was around this time last year, and where it stood at the end of June.
- HPOG continues to make progress across many goals, as you can see on the screen.
  - Our TANF percentage of enrollment stayed at 20%
  - We've seen great increases that we know are due to your hard work. Of note, the largest increases can be seen in basic skill completions, healthcare occupational training starts and completions.
- We are hopeful that the end of Year 4 through Year 5 will see increased completions of healthcare occupational training and healthcare employment.
